To assess the extent to which local and regional peacebuilding movements are being created through the development of peacebuilding networks

How to Collect and Analyse the Required Data

Networks are generally formed following peacebuilding training or a peacebuilding gathering. The network will also usually be connected through a social media platform such as whats app. Training records should identify the creation of a network and the type of social media account being used by them to communicate. To assess whether the network is active project staff should review the social media platform to see if it is still being used and estimate from the messages the level of activity of the group.
