To provide a count of those people that have been trained to facilitate community dialogues. For peacebuilding this would include those that have completed the initial 5 day conflict transformation course (or similar) and who are then able to facilitate conflict transformation discussions such as the community conflict transformation dialogues within their communities. This can also be used to count those trained to facilitate gender dialogues as part of the transforming masculinities programme, to run survivor or psychosocial support networks, advocacy groups or leadership programmes

How to Collect and Analyse the Required Data
